A SOLDIER OF COMMERCE

By JOHN LOE GORDON

Copyright, 1902, by F. R. Toomey

Silently Palpak led his men down a steep and difficult path. They waited in hiding till the head of the caravan was opposite. A peculiar cry from Palpak sent them dashing into the road. Palpak's men had left their horses above on the cliff and were at a disadvantage, but they outnumbered the Bokharans. At the first volley three of the ameer's soldiers fell from their horses. A terrific outcry followed, but the officer in command was brave and calm and soon rallied them. They formed in a circle around the camels bearing the two girls, while the merchants and the camels bearing their goods scuttled for safety. Palpak rallied his men and led them in a ferocious onslaught, but the direct and steady fire from the mounted riflemen of the ameer sent a dozen of them to the ground.

Palpak shouted out his commands and formed his men for a rush, but the ameer's men were first, and the horses came dashing upon the Zannucks. For a time it looked like a victory for the Bokharans. Orskoff and Harvey were compelled to run aside when the ameer's horsemen came upon them.

The battle of the ameer's men was being waged chiefly by the officer in command, who seemed not to know the word fear and who seemed to be impervious to bullets. Mounted on a fine horse, he led every charge. Harvey saw that so long as the Bokharans were inspired by this officer they were well nigh invincible. He watched his chance to cope with the commander in person.

At last it came. The officer, in making a dash through the forces of the Zannucks, was beset by several of them with spears. He brought his horse suddenly to a halt, tried to swerve, and the horse came down almost on his haunches. With a quick leap Harvey sprang upon the horse behind the officer. Spears about to be hurled were lowered, and the men stood in amazement. The officer tried to turn, to reach Harvey with his sword, but the iron arms of the American were around his neck, and he was soon choked into submission. With a shout of victory Harvey hurled him to the ground.

"Now, Palpak! Now!" he cried, and with a rush the Zannucks attacked again. Their onslaught was so ferocious that the soldiers of the ameer fled along the pass, to be met by Domitan with the remaining hundred.

"Victory!" cried Harvey. "Victory!" He sped to the camels, as did Orskoff, and at the command of Koura, who could manage the beasts, the camels knelt. Alma and Koura were soon in their lovers' arms.

"My darling! My darling! You are saved!" cried Harvey. "The Bokharans have been defeated!"

"They would not have been," said Orskoff, "but for the brains of your American."

"How is it you are on Bokharan soil against the command of the czar, my captain?" asked Koura.

"To save you, my sweet one; to save the girl I love. I learned my duty from the American."

So absorbed were they in their greetings that a cry from the Zannucks did not reach them. Happening to turn his head, Harvey saw the form of Palpak stretched upon the ground.

"Good heaven! Palpak killed!" he exclaimed.

He rushed to the chief and found that he was severely wounded.

"Who knows anything about surgery?" he asked. As no one answered, Harvey knelt beside the chief and began dressing the bullet wound in his side.

"Is it the last of me, my friend?" said Palpak.

"Perhaps not. I'm pretty good at this sort of thing. Be patient, and we'll see what can be done."

He took the head of a horse, pouncing the road caused them to look up. Domitan soon appeared.

"How good the fight here?" he demanded. "We have defeated the soldiers of the ameer."

"And so did we," said one of the captains, "but Palpak, our chief, is wounded."

gather round, he said: "Domitan is chief. I die."

Domitan, as soon as he was convinced that his brother was dead, became a changed man.

"Zannucks," he shouted, "I am thy chief! Obey me as thou obeyed my brother, and I will make thee rich with the spoils of the caravans. We will pay no taxes to the ameer, but will give him battle in the mountains and kill his soldiers. And thou, American and Muscovite, shalt become my slaves and wait upon me in the palace I will build. I shall not be called chief, but king, and the prettiest of the girls we have rescued from the Bokharans shall be my queen."

"Nonsense!" said Harvey. "Your brother promised that we should be sent to the coast safely."

"Let my brother fulfill his promise. I am chief, and thou art now my prisoners. Obey me or thy life will go as did my brother's."

Harvey made a gesture as if to draw his pistol, and Domitan sprang upon him.

"The other! Seize the other! Bind them both!" he cried.

Alma and Koura screamed with terror as they saw their gallant lovers almost buried under the Zannucks that hurled themselves upon them. In a few minutes Harvey and Orskoff were securely bound.

"Dogs of unbelievers!" cried Domitan, shaking his fist in their faces. "Thou interfered with my plans before! Remember the cave! Now will I pay in good coin! Slaves, forever shalt thou serve me!"

Harvey did not answer. He looked at Alma. The poor girl was trembling with terror, and tears were pouring down her cheeks.

"Cheer up, my darling!" he said to her. "We will soon be out of this!"

The clatter of horses on the road could be heard, and the force Domitan had left fighting came up.

"We routed them well," said one of the captains. "What! Is Palpak killed?"

"I am thy chief!" said Domitan.

"But there was treasure in the caravan! Where are the camels of the merchants?"

"Below. They fled. After them, and bring them back!"

Fifty started, and the remainder prepared to bury the dead. It was now late in the day, and Domitan was eager to get his caravan off the highway lest a returning force of Bokharans turn victory into defeat.

"We have two of the best camels of the ameer," he said. "We cannot take them up the side of the cliff. We must travel by way of the road farther up. We will arrange for the burial of the dead, foes as well as friends. Remove all trace of the fight."

The two girls were tenderly cared for, Domitan studying them carefully, as if to decide which was the more beautiful.

"There is my queen," he said, pointing to Alma. "The Georgian is beautiful, but this one, this Muscovite, suits me. I will make her my wife."

"Not much," said Harvey. "There's going to be another deal all around before that takes place."

"Dog! Pig! Be silent!" growled Domitan.

A meal was served, and the two girls were royally treated. A dozen soldiers waited upon them.

After this delay Domitan ordered his men to move, and the entire caravan, captured camels, horses and all, withdrew from the highway and made camp in the thick forest that formed the border of the pass. The horses were left upon the cliff in charge of a few men, and camp was made for the night. Plans for removing the booty to the Zannuck village could be made in the morning. Sentinels were stationed, and a guard was placed over the two girls. Harvey and Orskoff, bound, were thrust under a bush and left there.

"This is terrible!" groaned Orskoff. "We have failed, with all our planning."

"Sh-h," whispered Harvey. "Make them think we are sleeping."

"The fellow has another plan," thought Orskoff.

The hours of the night dragged wearily. The soldiers slept, and, not being accustomed in their wild life to keeping guard at night, most of the guards were asleep by midnight. Harvey and Orskoff lay close together. A wriggling motion on the part of Harvey attracted the Russian. In a moment he felt a nudge in the side. Harvey was sitting up, his hands free, industriously untying the cords around his legs and feet. With a swift slash of his knife he set the Russian free.

"Come!" he whispered.

He crawled away in the darkness, keeping in the deeper shadows of the trees. Orskoff followed. Neither spoke for many minutes. They kept working their way in the direction of the road and away from Sloom. At last, having cleared the camp, Harvey stood up straight.

"What is your plan?" whispered Orskoff breathlessly.

"I have none except to get away," said Harvey. "Free, we can do something. Let's walk along this road, and as we walk we can think."

TO DO OR TO DIE

This Now Seems to Be the Resolve of the Russian General.

MEANING OF ADVANCE

General Kuropatkin Has Evidently Made Up His Mind That Offensive
Tactics Will Prevail.

His Entire Front Continues to Advance to Meet the Armies of General Oyama.

While General Kuropatkin has continued to advance his entire front against the armies of Field Marshal Oyama, he has not met with any formidable opposition. However, the expectation is that a battle of magnitude must be fought within a few days. It is believed that the Japanese will make a stand at Liao Yang. Several positions east of that place have been abandoned by the Japanese.

At St. Petersburg it is surmised that Field Marshal Oyama's forces have been weakened by the dispatch of troops to aid General Nogi in reducing Port Arthur, and that this condition has afforded General Kuropatkin an opportunity to recover ground lost during the month of August.

DEVELOPMENTS AWAITED

Decisive Battle Cannot Now Be Far Off, It Is Thought.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A battle upon which the fate of this year's campaign in Manchuria depends seems only a few days ahead. Advices are meager. All that is positively known officially is that General Kuropatkin has cast the die at last, about-faced his army and is marching resolutely against the enemy as if resolved to do or die. According to unofficial reports Field Marshal Oyama at the first sign of Kuropatkin taking the offensive, began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liao Yang. According to the latest reports from Mukden the Japanese outposts are being driven in all along the line. The strategy of the forward movement will be concealed, as were the preparations for the advance, so that all surmises as to where General Kuropatkin intends to strike are mere guesswork. It is not clear whether General Kuropatkin contemplates a blow on the left, center or right of the Japanese army, but the fact that stress is laid upon the capture of Bentzlapitz, which opens the road and fords to Benshu, twenty miles east of Liao Yang, where General Kuroki crossed, and that Cossacks are already reported in the neighborhood of the stream, might foreshadow an exact reversal of the battle of Liao Yang, this time the Russian commander flanking and turning Liao Yang with his left as Field Marshal Oyama did with his right.

Little light has been thrown upon the considerations which led General Kuropatkin suddenly to assume the offensive; but no word is heard at the war office intimating that the course was of rashness. Officers of the general staff, while not underestimating the heavy task and severe sacrifices that are involved in assuming the offensive, nevertheless express absolute confidence that General Kuropatkin has found a weak point in the Japanese armor. Different explanations abound as to the reason for making the forward movement at this time. The advance is attributed to a realization by General Kuropatkin of the difficulty the Japanese have encountered in making good their losses at Liao Yang and replenishing their supplies and ammunition, or possibly to the drawing off of a portion of the Japanese troops to reinforce General Nogi in a desperate endeavor to end the siege of Port Arthur.

Whatever the explanation, it is apparent from the hasty manner in which the Japanese withdrew before the first show of Russian strength, that their recent ostentatious preparations for an advance were largely bluff. The best opinion here is that the impending battle is likely to develop with startling rapidity.

Conditions at Port Arthur.
Chefoo, Oct. 11.—The Russian agent here announces authoritatively that there has been no fighting of importance at Port Arthur since the last big assault on the fortress (from Sept. 19 to 23). On the night of Oct. 5 the Japanese landed a force from Taicze bay and the Russians retired in the face of superior numbers. The next day, however, the Japanese were driven out by an artillery fire, one gun which they had mounted being destroyed. The Japanese engage in bombardments for three or four hours daily.

WYNNE SUCCEEDS PAYNE

First Assistant Is Now the Postmaster General.

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt has appointed Robert J. Wynne first assistant postmaster general, to the office of postmaster general, succeeding the late General

ROBERT J. WYNNE

Payne. Mr. Wynne was formally inducted into his new office at once. The oath was administered by Chief Clerk John J. Howley of the first assistant's office, who has been in the department many years and who now becomes acting first assistant postmaster general.

Relations Seriously Strained.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The strained relations between the foreign office and the admiralty over the question of contraband, according to high authority, has reached an acute stage. Foreign Minister Lansdorff is said to consider that he has suffered a personal affront under which he cannot rest, and purposes to raise the issue at the weekly audience with the emperor and at the same time tender his resignation. Confidence is expressed that should the matter go thus far the emperor will decline to accept Count Lansdorff's resignation.

May Withdraw "Stalwart" Ticket.
Milwaukee, Oct. 11.—Considerable discussion is being indulged in over the outcome of the political situation existing between the two Republican factions in Wisconsin. It seems to be the general opinion that when the executive committee of the Stalwart state central committee meets tomorrow that some definite action will be taken regarding their tickets. Many of the leading Stalwarts express the belief that the ticket will be withdrawn.

Plead Guilty to Boodling.
St. Louis, Oct. 11.—Charles F. Kelly and Charles A. Gutke pleaded guilty to bribery in connection with the Suburban deal in the house of delegates, in division No. 9 of the circuit court. Judge Taylor accepted the plea and allowed them until tomorrow to give new bonds. When they appear before the court they will not be sentenced, as it is the intention of Circuit Attorney Folk to use them as state witnesses in other cases.

Davis Draws a Crowd.
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 11.—The campaign tour of Hon. Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, through Maryland and West Virginia was begun here last night by an immense gathering of Democrats in Lyric hall, the concourse being so vast that thousands, unable to gain admission to the hall, were addressed at an overflow meeting from a stand on the public street hastily erected for the occasion.

Cleveland Thaws Out.
New York, Oct. 11.—The Business Men's Parker and Davis association have arranged to hold a mass-meeting in Carnegie hall on Oct. 21. Former President Grover Cleveland has so far overcome his disinclination to make a speech during the canvass that he has consented to preside at this meeting. The political speech of the evening will be delivered by ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle.

Turkeys are Scarce.

This long from Thanksgiving the report is going out that the supply of turkeys is short this year. That is what was said last year and the year before and back a half dozen years. There are probably as many turkeys to market this year as usual but the demand may be greater. The farmer who has turkeys to sell will likely get a pretty good price as he has the past few years.

A PIONEER FAMILY.

The Weathers Family was Among the First White Settlers in this County.

The Weathers family, of which the late Ras Weathers was a descendant, was among the first whites to settle in Jackson county. With them came the Durhams, Rogers, Shepards, Grahams, Brewsters, Millers, McAfees, and a score of other families, locating in the vicinity of Fort Vallonia, then the only settlement of importance nearer than Vincennes.

Game was then plentiful, and Indian raids of frequent occurrence. James McAfee once fought two Indians over the possession of a deer which McAfee had killed with his rifle. McAfee decided the dispute by shouldering the deer and retreating backward, fighting off the Shawnees with his tomahawk, and menacing them with his rifle. This took place on the Weathers farm, east of Vallonia, and one of the Weathers boys, hearing the sound of battle, went to McAfee's assistance. The Indians fled, and the settlers returned to their homes each with a portion of the hard-earned venison. This occurred in 1810.

In 1811 Robert Weathers, father of John and Ras Weathers, was born in the fort at Vallonia, whither the settlers had sought safety from a threatened outbreak of the Indians. When the fort was removed to Brownstown Robert Weathers followed it with his family, and where he remained until his death in 1850.

What is More Precious

To the old folks than their eyes? How many are plodding through life with lenses that pull and hurt, and others with none—perhaps better off than those which are picked up in haphazard way.

At the very time when they should be in possession of all the benefits that can be given them, they are too frequently neglected, and without comparison how are they to know?

If you could witness the joy and happiness brought to just one of these old people when fitted with proper lenses, you would see to it that your parents had the best to be secured.

We make free examinations—Mr. and Mrs. Harsch.

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me."

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy."

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. BLANCHARD, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up, but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much good that I purchased another, and the result was so satisfactory that I bought six more bottles, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall never be without it. I hope that my testimonial will convince women that your Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine in the world for falling of the womb or any other female complaints."—Mrs. MAY CONY, 26-60 Birch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Her address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it.

THE WHITE PLAGUE

Organization to Be Effected in Indiana to Stamp It Out.

THE FRESH AIR CURE

This Interesting Propaganda Will Be Furthered by Organized Effort in This State.

Movement on Foot to Secure Legislative Action in This Important Matter.

Indianapolis, Oct. 11.—The fight to stamp the white plague—consumption—out of Indiana, and the movement to commit the state to the obligation to provide treatment for victims of consumption the same as it does for those mentally affected, will take tangible form Thursday night in the organization of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Dr. S. A. Knopf of New York city, regarded as one of the three or four most noted authorities on the treatment of consumption, will be in Indianapolis this week. He comes at his own expense to further this work in this part of the country and to assist Dr. J. N. Hurry and others in effecting an organization in Indiana to further the propaganda of the generally called "fresh air" treatment for consumption or rather, the "fresh air prevention."

Some of the most notable authorities on agricultural and farmers' institute work in the West, including ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin, will address the meeting. Today is being devoted to the excursion of farmers to the university and experiment station. The seventh annual conference of institute workers will begin Wednesday and continue until Thursday night.

Riddled With Bullets.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 11.—While Funeral Director Alvin Wild of Hobart was returning to that place from a burial he came across the body of a well-dressed stranger lying by the roadside. Five bullet wounds were discernible. Life had been extinct for three hours, and the pockets had been rifled. The only clue to identification is a tag on the coat collar which bears the words "Penton Harbor." Sheriff Daugherty and Marshal Young of Crown Point have left for the scene of the crime.

Jail Wouldn't Hold Them.

Farmstead, Ind., Oct. 11.—Marshal George Davis arrested a band of fifteen Downies who have been holding forth here for four months. They were arrested on the charge of being a public nuisance and obstructing the streets. They all sang while on the way to the town jail. Davis finally released them because of the inadequate quarters of the jail. Hamilton Pursley, a wealthy farmer, is the leader of the band. They are known as "the burning bush."

REPUBLICAN CONFIDENCE

Now on the Last Lap, They Feel That the Race Is Won.

Indianapolis, Oct. 11.—The managers of the Republican campaign are entering the last lap of the race just as confident as they were when they started in several months ago. There has not been so much red fire as usual—that much is admitted at the headquarters, but it was said there today that the interest has been greater from the first than reported. Chairman Lyons of the speakers' bureau maintains that J. Frank Hanly, candidate for governor, has had over twenty-five meetings where the attendance has exceeded a thousand. Congressman James E. Watson and others who are rated as the spellbinders of the No. 1 class, have also had big meetings. So far as attendance is concerned, the Republicans have not had much cause for complaint. The statement was made today at headquarters that the organization is in good shape and that the result of the thirty-day poll will be very favorable to the Republicans. The latter, under the guidance of Chairman Goodrich, Secretary Sims and their associates, promise to be in better shape on election day than they were in '96 or 1900, although it was generally felt then that the organization could not have been improved.

The result of the thirty-day poll is anxiously awaited, not only by the party leaders here, but by the men who are at the head of the two national committees and the candidates themselves. All summaries sent out from New York, from whence the fight is being directed, indicate that great importance is attached to Indiana's fifteen electoral votes. Hence the result of the thirty-day poll will be more interesting than the sixty-day poll, as it will show just how the land lies. Those who write political news as a business have figured that the sixty-day poll showed the state to be Republican by 30,000 to 40,000. Many of these figures, however, were guesswork. Your correspondent has been reliably informed that the thirty-day poll of the Republican state committee four years ago showed the state to be Republican by 27,000, which was nearly correct as the result indicated. If the gold Democrats have all returned to their party it is reasonable to presume that the poll will not show so strongly Republican this time. All avenues of information regarding the poll are closely guarded, and it is not likely that any definite information will leak out regarding it, so that about all the statements will be guesswork. The first returns on the poll were received today.

Walter Wellman, the well-known correspondent of one of the Chicago papers, has joined the corps of political correspondents who have come to Indiana to write about the situation. He is generally read with much interest, and probably this time one of his stories has attracted more than usual attention among the politicians. It is a revival, however, of the old one that Taggart is laying his plans to run for the senate if the Democrats win this year—that he has no hopes of carrying the state for Parker and Kern, and that he is bending his energy to secure control of the legislature. When Taggart was here some time ago he was asked about this very matter, and he said he never had any idea of running for the senate. His friend and political adviser, Joe Fanning, who has just returned from New York, said today that the story is wholly without foundation, as Taggart is not a candidate and is using all his energy to carry the state for Parker and Kern.

Much Interest in Missions.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 11.—The Archbishop of Canterbury and bishops representing various parts of the world, addressed a great missionary mass meeting in Tremont Temple last night. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting in St. Paul's church, at which most of the addresses were repeated. The address of the archbishop was probably the last that he will make in public during his stay in America.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by C. W. Milbous.

Factions Get Together.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 11.—The regular Republicans and the union or Addicks Republicans last evening agreed upon Preston Lea of this city as their candidate for governor in place of the men nominated by their respective conventions.

BRYAN'S ATTITUDE

The Nebraskan Speaks Plainly of His Position.

Marysville, Mo., Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan addressed an open-air meeting here yesterday. He made an earnest plea for the election of Joseph W. Folk, Democratic candidate for governor. Referring to the national campaign, Mr. Bryan said he believed his hearers would give him credit for courage enough to oppose Parker openly if he did not consider him the best man for the place, and said he hoped that his reputation for truth and veracity was such that his friends would believe him when he said he was supporting the Democratic nominee by every means in his power. He said he was supporting Parker because in all things where Parker was weak, according to his view, Roosevelt was weaker. He stated that he had pronounced imperialism to be the paramount issue four years ago and that he still considered it so.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by C. W. Milbous.

Federal Application Denied.

New York, Oct. 11.—Judge Lacombe in the United States circuit court has handed down a decision denying the application of the federal authorities for a re-argument of the habeas corpus proceedings of John A. Benson, the California millionaire, charged with having perpetrated extensive land frauds against the United States through which he secured title to several hundred thousand acres of government land in California and Oregon. Benson was indicted several months ago in Washington on a charge of bribing clerks in the land office to secure information, and also on a charge of alleged fraudulent practices in obtaining lands.
